

Lactose INTOLERANT

In a future where milk is the most sought after resource on the planet, two rival milkmen must work together to hunt dangerous milk-beasts and keep the town's dairy supply flowing.

Lactose INTOLERANT

The Good Guys

MERLIN DAIRYHEART

The best milkman in the world (number 1 out of 2). He is a goat. He is brave, loyal and loves his job. Unfortunately, Merlin is extremely competitive, in a nerdy kind of way. He resents his partner Curt, who he doesn't think is as good as himself, but he can't say that out loud or he'll get strangled.

CURT ST. WAY

Former rival of Merlin, now forced to work together. He is a llama. He is very angry and hostile because that's what gets results. Curt is super macho and rolls his eyes at the slightest weakness. He has a short fuse, especially with people who don't say what they mean, which is his partner Merlin all over.

MAYOR BUCK MUCUS

Mayor Mucus is responsible for keeping the milk flowing into the town of Flemberg. He is blank inside, with no clue about the dangers of the world. He would walk in to speeding traffic if no one was there to stop him. He is extremely proud of his milk delivery team.

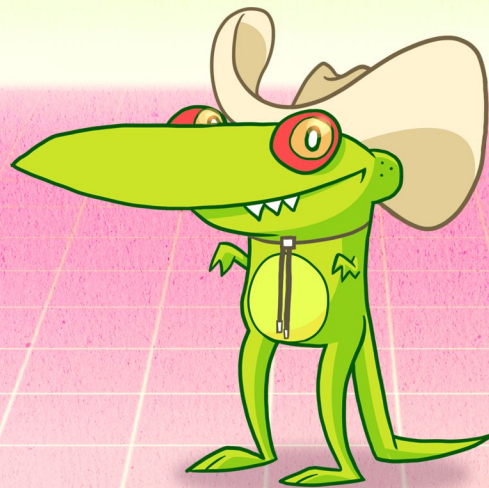

Lactose INTOLERANT

The Bad Guys

CAPTAIN BOB CHUM

This guy has an inferiority complex and he hates mammals with a passion. He is trying to sabotage the dairy industry and replace it with his own saltwater soda. He has evil tendencies, but secretly wishes he was born a lion and has a poster of Simba in his cabin.

BRISKET

Brisket is a greedy lizard who only cares about making money by conning honest folks. He's always trying to scam someone with his fast talkin' and crackpot schemes. He is an expert liar and even his closest associates know not to trust him.

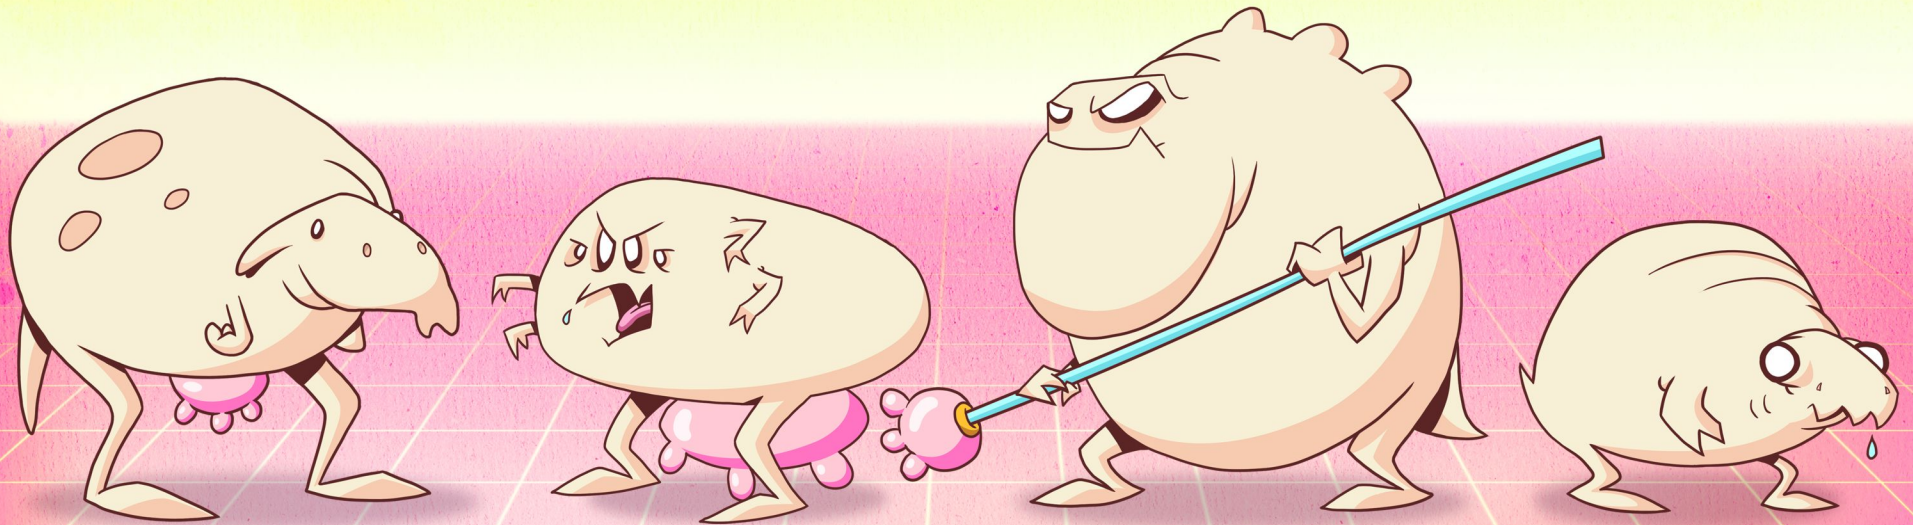

SOFTY

He is a chill dude, and likes to have fun with his 'peoples'. He helps out with the nefarious schemes and finds them endlessly hilarious. He's just having an awesome time without really thinking about stuff, y'know?

Lactose INTOLERANT

The Lactoids

The Lactoids are genetically modified monsters cultivated out of sour milk. They are dangerous, and the last source of milk on the planet. They come in four types:

UDDERBEAST

Docile until startled, then likely to stampede.

CURLER

Crazy little monsters that will attack anything.

SOUL SKIMMER

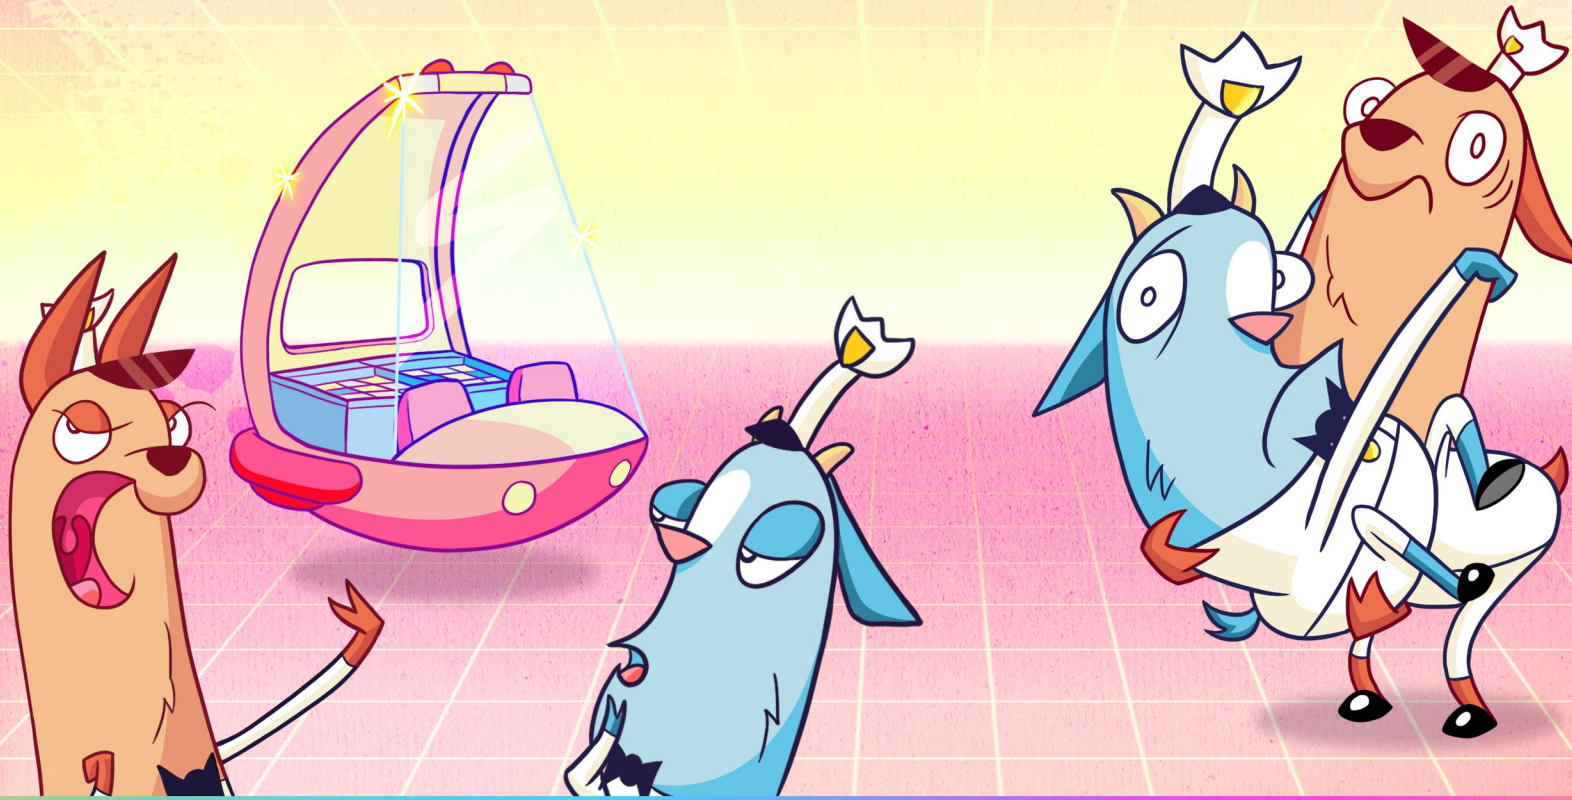

Smartest of all the Lactoids. Able to figure stuff out and hunt you down.

SOURBUG

Easy to manage on their own, but they tend to move in large herds.

Lactose INTOLERANT

Story Ideas

CREAM OF THE CROP

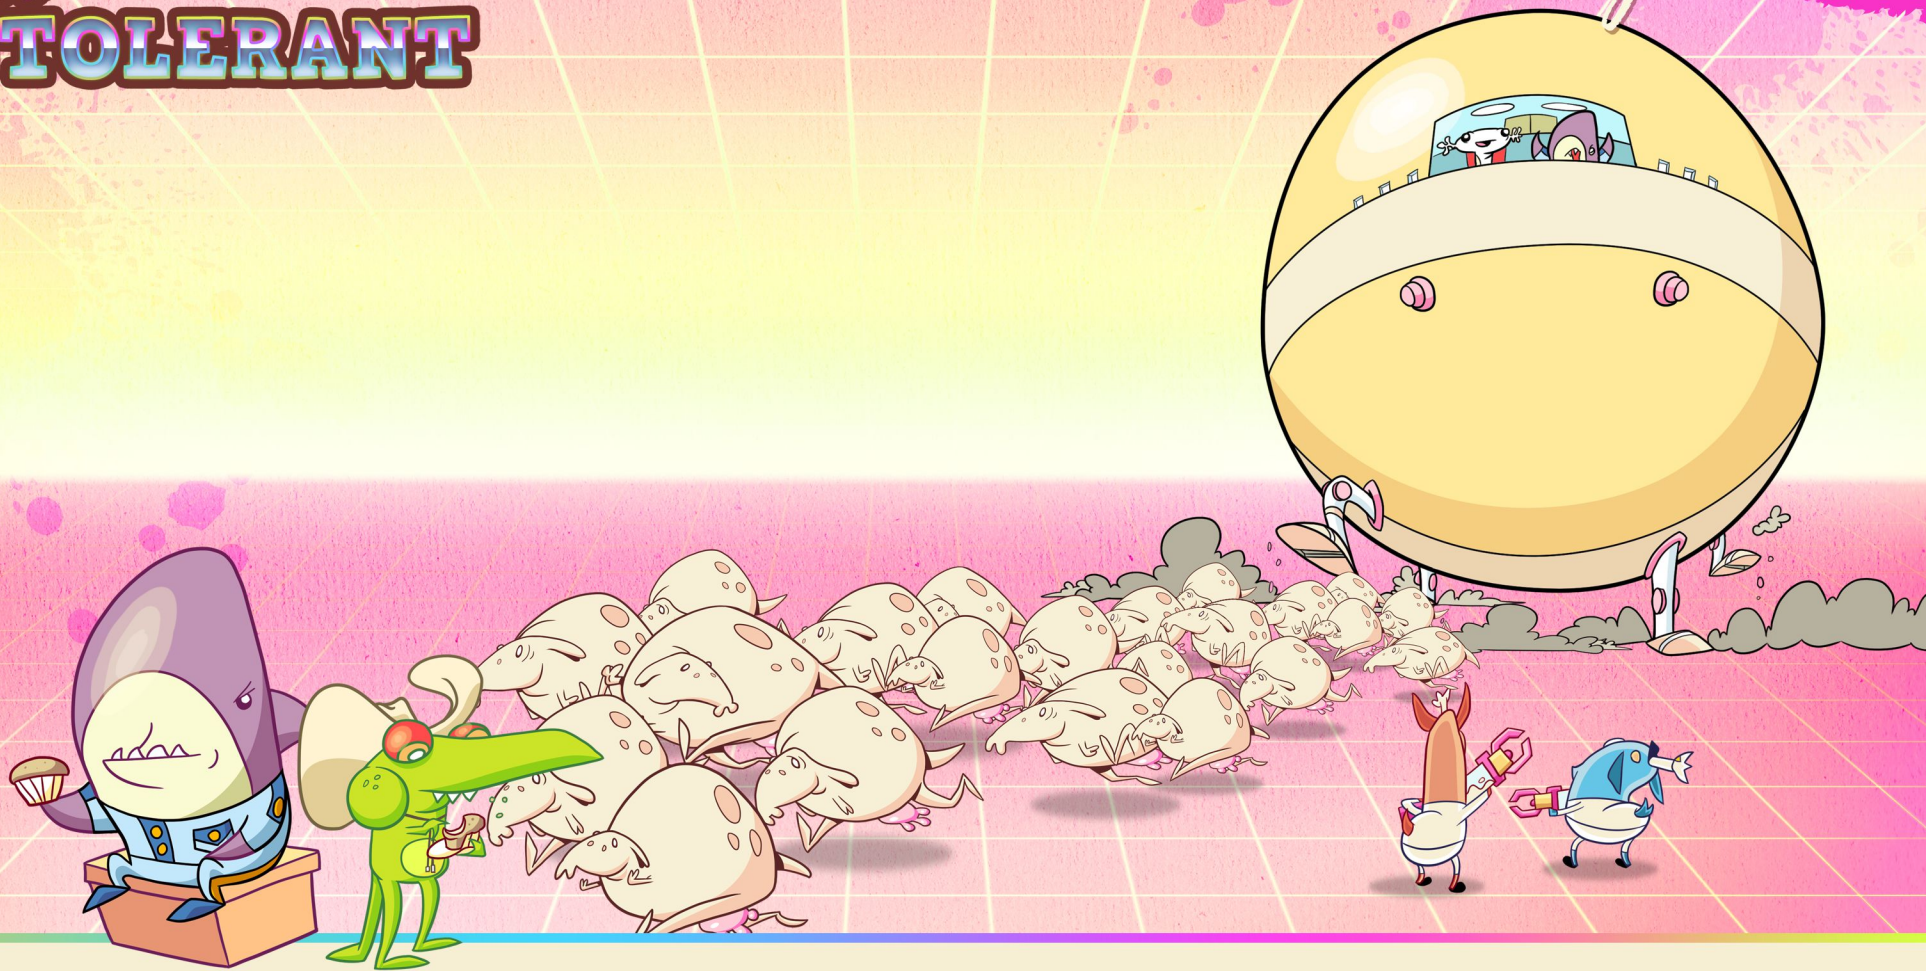

Mayor Mucus has promised to reward the hardest working milkman in town with a new milkfloat. The brute force delivery style of Curt is an equal match for Merlin's meticulous perfectionism, and the competition ends in a tie. Now these two mavericks have to share a vehicle, and it means the beginning of a very uneasy partnership.

ENTER THE SKIMZONE

A dairy drought means Merlin and Curt must put aside their differences on their first mission into the Skimzone - a bizarre no man's land where the dangerous Lactoids lurk. These beasts must be tracked down and milked... It's a two man job, so goat and llama must learn to trust each other if they are to return.

Lactose INTOLERANT

Story Ideas

A LACK OF CULTURE

Captain Chum and his gang are giving out free samples of saltwater soda to whoever will make whale noises outside the town's museum. In reality, this is a distraction while they steal the priceless statue of Louis Pasteur inside. Only our vigilant heroes can stop them getting away with it.

DON'T PUT YOUR TRUST IN UDDERS

Brisket convinces Merlin that he's turned over a new leaf and begs to tag along on a milk-finding mission. Deep in the Skimzone, the wily lizard leads Merlin into a trap - a giant walking LAC-TAT tries to stomp our hero into the ground. Luckily, Curt has been keeping watch and sweeps to the rescue. Is Merlin man enough to say thank you to his partner?

Lactose
INTOLERANT

100%
DAIRY HUMOR

Guaranteed

